

WorldDenver Presents:

STAYCATIONS

a new way to travel the world without leaving your home

BRUNCH IN BARCELONA

While our exchange programs and live events are on hold, WorldDenver is exploring new ways to keep up global discovery, dialogue, and engagement. Welcome to our Staycations Series, a biweekly email that will provide our members with a featured destination, including a virtual cultural experience, a new recipe to try, and a beverage recommendation.

This week we're going to explore the capital of Catalonia, home to one of the world's most famous futbol clubs and the 5th most visited city in Europe: Barcelona. You don't need face masks for this!

CULTURE

Located in the heart of the Latin Quarter, the Museo Picasso de Barcelona is visited by millions every year. They come to marvel at the best works of renowned artist but stay to admire the preserved Medieval architecture in Barcelona. This online tour offers a large selection of Picasso's finest works as well as virtual tours of the museum's beautiful courtyards.

CUISINE

This recipe is from Café De La Concha in San Sebastian, but the humble Tortilla Española is a ubiquitous delight eaten around the country. Some prefer to serve it warm from the skillet, while others follow the traditional method of letting it cool to room temp before serving the wedges as tapas. Leftovers can be eaten as-is or tucked in between slices of bread for a sandwich.

COCKTAIL

While Sangria is simply the name for a wine based cocktail, we enjoy this light, fruity modern version with the addition of bubbles! Add in chopped apples, peach, and citrus or top off with a carbonated beverage (lemon soda, orange soda, or soda water) right before serving for some bubbles.
